COMPANY H

Returns From Henderson Encampment.

Boys Acquitted Themselves With Honor--The Experience Will Do Them Good.

The members of Company H, Kentucky National Guard, returned from the Henderson encampment early yesterday morning, having experienced an all night railroad trip. The boys were a little worn and sleepy, but still full of ginger and game to the core. The trip has been a great benefit to the boys in giving them a good idea of soldier life, and thorough instruction in all details of the camp as well as the minutiae of drill.

Although new and untried, our Company took high rank in the regiment from the very first of the encampment, and was complimented on all sides for its perfect work and manly, soldierly bearing of the boys whenever called upon for any duty by the superior officers.

At target practice, without any experience whatever with the guns used, the members of Company H all made high scores, and it is freely predicted that with some practice the regimental medal would have been captured. Private Owen Ambrose, with a score of 104 captured the Company medal and was the third highest man during the encampment. This will give him a trip to Seagirt next year to shoot at National range practice. This will be a fine trip for him, with all his expenses paid and $2 per diem.

We are all proud of Company H and expect great things of the boys in the future.

The Company now has two mascots--a dog and cat--which were presented and will be carefully cared for until next year.

Trip to the Mammoth Cave.

The boys who won the trip to the Mammoth Cave in our late popularity contest have been requested to meet in Hartford next Tuesday, September 4, at 10 a. m.

The trip will be made by boat from Cromwell. Two days will be spent at the Cave, giving the boys plenty of time to go over both the long and short routes.

It is possible that several persons may take advantage of the opportunity to go, thus increasing the party to probably fifteen or twenty.

The boys will be accompanied by one of THE REPUBLICAN editors.

Hartford College News.

An examination will be held Saturday morning, September 1st, for the purpose of classifying children who have recently moved into the district. Those pupils who desire to try again for promotion may do so on that day. All pupils for whom the examinations are intended must be present Saturday, as teachers will be too busy to give such examinations next week. Pupils should bring their books, pencils and tablets.

Patrons should remember that school opens next Monday and should see to it that their children enter the first day and attend regularly.

The Board of Education is having the building thoroughly scoured and cleaned, the blackboards reslated, and varnishing, painting, and carpentering done.

The new desks which were ordered have been shipped and will be installed this week. A large supply of maps, globes and school apparatus has also been ordered and is expected to arrive soon.

A large number of non-resident pupils are expected to enter Hartford College this fall. Some students have been in town this week to engage board and make other arrangements.

A business meeting of the faculty will be held at the college Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. L. N. Gray, who has been spending the summer with her relatives in Des Moines, Iowa, is expected to arrive home Friday or Saturday.

President L. N. Gray has been untiring in his efforts for the success of the School and probably the largest number of out-of-town students ever enrolled at the beginning of the fall term will matriculate next Monday.

Fall Session.

The Fall Session of the Southern Normal School of Bowling Green, Kentucky, will open on Tuesday morning, September 4, 1906. The following courses of study are offered: Intermediate, Teachers, State Certificate, State Diploma, Scientific, Classic, Vocal and Instrumental Music, Elocution, Oratory, and Physical training, and Law.

The institution invites a close examination of the work it is doing. It will open its fall session with the largest body of students it has ever enjoyed at this season of the year. Correspondence solicited. Your communication should be addressed to H. H. Cherry, Bowling Green, Kentucky.

David Igleheart.

Although it is customary for all men to speak favorably of a man after he is dead, yet I feel there is a duty devolving upon each and every one of us to hold in sacred memory the virtues and good deeds of those who pass from this world of turmoil into the peaceful beyond.

David B. Igleheart departed this life August 22nd, 1906. I knew him in childhood, boyhood and manhood, and it thrills my soul when my mind drifts back to the days when we were playmates on a common playground. Many a day did we spend together on the playground of the district school and but little did we know of the cares and trials of matured manhood. When I reflect, it seems as yesterday that we were together, either knocking persimmons, gathering hickory nuts, or basking ourselves in the mellowings of autumnal sunlight. As I said at first, I knew David Igleheart from childhood and I never knew him to commit bad deed in school; likewise in boyhood and young manhood he was truthful, honest and upright, a public spirited and generous hearted citizen. May we emulate his example.

LEG BROKEN

By Gasoline Engine While on a Pleasure Trip on Green River.

Livermore, Ky., Aug. 27. John Libbert, of Newburg, Ind., met with a very painful accident near this place this morning. He, with a party of gentlemen from Newburg, was on their way home from a trip to Mammoth Cave, on a small covered barge, which was being towed by a gasoline yacht. They tied up here last night. This morning they started out early in order to get to Ramsey before the locks would be closed on account of being repaired. Mr. Libbert went to the back of the boat in order to remove some water that had accumulated from the rain, and while standing near the line shaft his overalls were caught by the shaft and wound so tightly that his leg was badly crushed, breaking both bones below the knee. He was brought to the hotel and Drs. Beard and Ford dressed the wounds. One of the party will remain here with him until he can be removed to his home.

John Storms Dropped Dead.

John B. Storms, aged sixty-nine years, of Falls of Rough, died suddenly Tuesday morning of heart disease, at the home of his daughter in Owensboro, where he was visiting. Mr. Storms went to Owensboro several days ago and was apparently in good health until the attack of heart disease came upon him. He was affected with short breathing before he arose and after getting out of bed and sitting down in a chair, fell forward on the floor and died almost instantly. His remains were taken to Falls of Rough Wednesday for burial.

Do Kentuckians Want It.

Do we of Kentucky, now so proudly progressive and prosperous, want a return to the evil days of the last era of Democratic misrule, from 1883 to 1897? The late Senator Vest, of Missouri, speaking in the Senate May 25, 1897, on the conditions prevailing in the country under the previous Democratic administration, made certain avowals which, coming from a Democrat of his eminence, are now deserving of reproduction. We are on the eve of a contest in which Free Trade versus Protection is to be the issue. No more consistent and courageous Democrat in the Senate at that time than the chivalrous Vest of Missouri. For himself and his Democratic colleagues he said:

"We fully appreciate the desperate condition of the country. We know how many ruined homes, how many broken hearts, how many blasted hopes, now surround the Congress of the United States, and if prosperity can come from any source, even from our political opponents, we shall welcome it; and not only welcome it, but bless the moment in which it comes."

Whence the country's desperate condition, the ruined homes, the broken hearts, the blasted hopes, surrounding Congress? From the effort to roll the country of its protective tariff. Did prosperity return at Republican's call? Undoubtedly; and prosperity has here ever since made its abode. Senator Vest added:

"My State is a large agricultural State—one of the largest in the Union. In my life, now verging upon three score years and ten, I have never seen in that land of plenty such ruin and depression as exists to-day."

Senator Bate, of Tennessee, another gallant ex-Confederate and a leading Democrat, declared July 6, 1897:

"There comes on the wind from every section of the country the wail of an impoverished people."

Kentucky's own David Highbaugh Smith on March 31, 1897, admitted:

"Stagnation and depression rule with despotic sway in every department of business life. Able enterprising and cautious men have been swept into the vortex of hopeless and irretrievable insolvency. Want and penury are visible in the faces of countless thousands, who wonder up and down the streets of the great metropolitan cities in search of employment that cannot be had at any price, and in numberless homes, erstwhile radiant with the glow of success and contentment, there is now the somber hues of discontentment and destitution."

"Are the people of Kentucky willing to reinvite want and penury to wander up and down their highways. Do they desire to banish success and contentment, that discontentment and destitution may overshadow numberless homes with their somber hues?"

The Moral Effect of Dancing.

Editors REPUBLICAN:—However much we may differ, the leaders of all denominations, both Catholic and Protestant, agree that much harm comes from the modern dance. Recently, "The Central Methodist" published a letter which Bishop William Stang, of the Fall River Diocese of the Roman Catholic Church, ordered read in the Roman Catholic churches, of that diocese. This letter sets forth many of the evil effects of dancing as Bishop Stang views it. In the letter the bishop says: "It is forbidden to have dancing on Saturday nights and Sundays. Saturday night dances lead to desecration of the Lord's day; they have been a source of misery and scandal in the past, they must be stopped at once. While calling the attention of you people to the diocesan statute forbidding them, you will denounce, with apostolical freedom and zeal indiscriminate and lascivious dances so common in our days."

"The world may sneer at such teachings and call our denunciations exaggerations and unreasonable exaction without solid foundation. The silly girl sees no harm in going to dances until like the unwary butterfly that gets too near the flame, she has the wing of her soul signed by the flame of impure love, and her innocence has vanished forever, leaving her the dark prospects of a ruined future, if not an early garve of shame."

"The fathers and doctors are unanimous in branding the custom of dancing as an infectious sink of impurity and obscenity, as the school of vice and the grave of innocence."

"It is our duty to admonish the faithful how they sin, not only against God, but against society, their families, against themselves by taking part in these dances or countenancing them by their presence."

That this extract from Bishop Stang's letter shows the spirit and tendency of the modern dance there is not much room for doubt.

I am sorry to know that we have some in our town who seem to be captured by the desire to dance, and that we even have a public hall where dancing is indulged in; often till the late hours of night. Parlor dancing is bad enough, but the public hall where the public character of low grade is equal to the most pure, is much worse. The greatest harm of one possibly is that it leads to the other. I beg the parents of this town not to risk the character of their daughters to the care of a custom that has destroyed its thousands. To this scribe the late hours kept at this public place is not a redeeming feature. To my mind midnight is a time when young people should be asleep under the home roof or some place of equal safety. This public hall is also a rival of the churches, young people often being attracted there when they should be worshiping God.

May the Lord bless him who runs this hall with a better thing, and deliver our young people from its dangers.

LOVER OF PURITY.

A fine string of horses have been secured for the Fair. Exciting races are assured everyday.

IN POND RIVER

Forest Vick, of Owensboro, Is Drowned While Bathing.

Forest Vick, seventeen years of age, a son of Mr. C. M. Vick, of Owensboro, was drowned in Pond river, two and a half miles from Sacramento, shortly after noon Monday. Vick was with a surveying party.

The members of the party became hot and tired and decided to go in the river. The recent rains caused the river to rise about ten feet and the current was very swift. There were a number of logs in the water and the Vick boy and the other members of the party were riding on them.

Vick was seen to go around a bend in the river and when he did not return the members of the party called to him. They received no answer and at once became alarmed. Several of the men ran down the river bank but found no trace of the boy. It is supposed that he attempted to swim from the log to the shore and the current carried him under the water. The body has not been recovered.

Vick was a newsboy on the O. and N. train for a number of years and was popular.

MYSTERY SOLVED.

New Suspect of Schafer Murder Arrested.

Wrong Girl Killed in Effort to Rid Man of His Paramour.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 29. - That the great mystery surrounding the murder of Sarah Schafer, the pretty young school teacher at Bedford, Ind., January 21, 1904, has at last been solved is the belief of Prosecutor Benedict and Marshal Myer, of Bedford, and of the local detectives who have under arrest Ernest Tanksley, charged with kidnaping Nellie Rainey from her home at Heltonville, Ind., eight miles from Bedford. The girl was with him when he was arrested. He was a married man and his wife and three children at Heltonville.

Three years ago his alleged illicit relations with the Rainey girl became known, and he left home and went to Bedford and worked there in the hope of hushing up his disgrace. It is believed he decided the best way to clear the family of disgrace was to kill the Rainey girl. He wrote her a letter asking her to meet him in Bedford at a certain alley on the night of January 21, 1904. It was at this point and time that Sarah Schafer was dragged down the alley, stabbed and killed.

DUPLICATE OF MISS SCHAFER.

The Rainey girl is pronounced a duplicate of Sarah Schafer in appearance and the police believe that Tanksley simply made a mistake in the woman and killed Miss Schafer while thinking he was getting Miss Rainey out of the way. The night was dark and such a mistake could easily have been made.

Tanksley returned to his room that night with fresh bloody scratches on his face. His room mate, Earl Hunter, asked him how his face had become bruised. He did not reply. Late that night he awoke his room mate by poking a bundle of clothes into the stove. Hunter asked him what he was doing and an evasive reply was given.

LEFT BEDFORD WITH GUN.

Last fall Tanksley left Bedford, and at the same time Miss Rainey disappeared from her home and was not heard of again until arrested. Recently Miss Rainey's father turned over to Prosecutor Benedict, of Bedford, a number of letters Tanksley had written to Nellie. His object was to have Tanksley arrested for kidnaping the girl. Among these letters was the one making the engagement at the alley in Bedford. The prosecutor connected Tanksley with the Schafer murder at once and soon unraveled the whole skein of evidence.

Tanksley and the girl were arrested here in a rooming house. He refused to talk to the police. The girl tried to tell the story that they had been married. She made a statement to a newspaper reporter that she knew Tanksley was wanted in Bedford for some change other than kidnaping.

"There is another charge which can be brought against Ernest," she said, "of which he has been living in terror ever since we left Bedford. If this charge is brought against him it will be terrible for him to bear, and will cause the greatest sensation. I will commit suicide rather than tell what I know."

Tanksley and the Rainey girl were taken back to Bedford Marshal Myer, where the man will stand trial for his life for the Schafer murder.

Luckiest Man in Arkansas.

"I'm the luckiest man in Arkansas," writes H. L. Stanley, of Bruno. "since the restoration of my wife's health after five years of continuous coughing and bleeding from the lungs; and I owe my good fortune to the world's greatest medicine, Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which I know from experience will cure consumption if taken in time. My wife improved with first bottle and twelve bottles completed the cure." Cures the worst coughs and colds or money refunded. At Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro's, druggists, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Microbes Leap Niagara.

An official connected with the public health and marine hospital service tells some interesting facts with reference to microbes in water. Ac-

MADE FROM NATIVE ROOTS.

SAFE AND RELIABLE.

That the roots of many native plants, growing wild in the American forests, possess remarkable properties for the cure of human maladies is well proven. Even the untutored Indian had learned the curative value of some of these and taught the early settlers their uses. The Indian never liked work so he wanted his sun to get well as soon as possible that she might do the work and let him hunt. Therefore, he dug "imposture root" for her, for that was their great remedy for female weakness. Dr. Pierce uses the same root—called Blue Cohosh—in his "Favor." "Prescription," skillfully combined with other agents that make it a safe and reliable medicine. It cures all the various weaknesses and painful derangements peculiar to women. Many afflicted women have been saved from the operating table and the surgeon's knife by the timely use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Tenderness over the lower pelvic region, with backache, spells of dizziness, faintness, bearing down pains or distress should not go unheeded. A course of "Favorite Prescription" will work marvelous benefit in all such cases, and generally effect a permanent cure. persisted in a long time. The "Favorite Prescription" is a harmless agent, being wholly prepared from native medicinal roots, without a drop of alcohol in its make up, whereas all other medicines, put up for sale through druggists, for woman's peculiar ailments, contain large quantities of spirituous liquors, which are very harmful, especially to delicate women. "Favorite Prescription" contains neither alcohol nor harmful habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are purified on each bottle wrapper. It is a powerful invigorating tonic, an excellent health restorer, in particular in the case of distempered femininity. For weak and sickly women, who are "worn-out" or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office, or school-room, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will prove a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving power.

For constipation, the true, scientific cure is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Mild, harmless, yet sure.

According to this authority, these little organisms sent into the Niagara river from the sewers of Buffalo take the tremendous leaps over the great falls and pass through the fearful turmoil of the rapids and whirlpools beneath with little or no harm. But after they have reached the placid waters of Lake Ontario they rapidly perish, and almost entirely disappear. This and many other similar facts were adduced to show that quiet and undisturbed water is far more fatal to bacterial life than the most violent agitation in contact with atmospheric air. Hence the official in question argues that the storage of water in reservoirs is an excellent method of freeing it from microbes.

Frightfully Burned.

Chas. W. Moore, a machinist, of Ford City, Pa., had his hand frightfully burned in an electrical furnace. He applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve with the usual result: "a quick and perfect cure." Greatest healer on earth for Burns, Wounds, Sores, Eczema and Piles. 25c at Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro's, Druggists.

MISS MORELAND

Will Leave Saturday Morning for Trip to Niagara Falls and Toronto.

Last Friday's Owensboro Inquirer says: Miss Annie Moreland will leave on Saturday morning for a trip to Niagara Falls, Toronto and Thousand Islands, being the same trip taken by the winners in the Inquirer popularity contest and with whom Miss Moreland would have gone if she were not ill at the time, as she was winner in district No. 6. She was taken sick with fever and her physician would not consent for her to go, though her ailment was of a mild type. She was given her choice, by the publisher of the Inquirer, of the trip at the expense of the paper, of selecting another to whom she could sell or transfer, or the cash value of the trip. She chose the last named. She will be accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Moreland, and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. T. Quisenberry.

Miss Moreland resides at Nocreek in Ohio county, and is most attractive young estimable woman and proved in the contest, to be extremely popular. Her many friends regretted that she was too ill to go with the Inquirer party and that the party could not be delayed for her, but they will all join with the Inquirer in wishing she may have a profitable and enjoyable journey with her relatives.

A word of truth in a few words: "Nearly all other cough cures are constipating, especially those containing opiates. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar moves the bowels. Contains no opiates." You can get it at Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

TO CLOVERPORT

Will the M. H. & E. Railroad go Says President Holman.

[Breckenridge News]

The Madisonville, Hartford & Eastern Railroad within five years will be running into Cloverport.

President Holman, of the M. H. & E., made the statement to Mr. J. A. Barry, of this city, who went to Madisonville to see President Holman as a representative of the Cloverport Commercial Club. The road is now being constructed to Mitchell, where it will join the branch of the Henderson Route. The new road will run its trains over this branch into Louisville until the line from Mitchell to Cloverport can be built. There will be but two miles of the road bed of the Breckenridge Cannon Coal Co., used. The route of the new road will be from Mitchell to a point very near Tar Springs where it will join the Breckenridge Canal road bed. The new track will run along this route into Cloverport where it will connect with the L. H. & St. L. The new road will be extended to the levee at the river formerly used by the Breckenridge company. This extension will be made for the shipment of coal South by means of the Ohio river. By the time the road into Cloverport is completed there will be a nine-foot stage of water on the Ohio river thus allowing coal fleets navigation throughout the year.

The new road will be primarily a coal road. Its purpose is to furnish an outlet for the vast coal fields through which it will have its routing. This coal will be brought to Cloverport and shipped South and thence to the Panama Canal. It was stated to the News by a party who has become acquainted with ideas of the M. H. & E. officials that their intention is to open up a coal field which will compete with coal field of Pennsylvania in the market for the Panama Canal coal supply.

They claim they can bring coal to Cloverport and load it on coal fleets than it would to haul it to Louisville, load it there and bring it down the river again.

A Healing Gospel.

The Rev. J. C. Warren, pastor of Sharon Baptist Church, Belair, Ga., says of Electric Bitters: "It's a Godsend to mankind. It cured me of lame back, stiff joints, and complete physician collapse. I was so weak it took me half an hour to walk a mile. Two bottles of Electric Bitters have made me so strong I have just walked three miles in 50 minutes and feel like walking three more. It's made a new man of me." Greatest remedy for weakness and all Stomach, Liver and Kidney complaints. Sold under guarantee at Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro's, Drug Store, Price 50c.

His Motto.

Well-digger—Now, we have found a mighty good vein of water, but there is nothing like being doubly safe and sure of the supply. Suppose we dig it, say, twenty feet deeper.

Don't drag along with a dull, bilious, heavy feeling. You need a pill. Use DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. Do not sicken or gripe, but results are sure. Sold by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

Suppressed the News.

A story is told of the late John L. Toole, the comedian, and Mr. Justice Hawkins, now Lord Brampton. They were at supper together discussing the events of the day. The judge incidentally mentioned that he intended, on the morrow, giving the man he had been trying fifteen years, because he deserved it. As Toole was leaving he blandly inquired: "Oh, would you mind my calling at the new paper offices and telling them about that fifteen years? It will be a tip for them exclusive information, you know and will do me no end of good with the press." "Good God! No, sir," exclaimed the judge, who took the precaution of accompanying Toole to his hotel and seeing him safely to bed.

Why does the sun burn? Why does a mosquito sting? Why do we feel unhappy in the Good Old Summer Time? Answer: we don't. We use DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, and these little ills don't bother us. Learn to look for the name on the box to get the genuine. Sold by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

For Babies on Sleeping Cars.

When traveling with a baby in a sleeping car, insure a good night's rest for yourself and the baby, not to mention your fellow travelers, by putting him to sleep in the little hammock which is to be found in the berth. This procedure is practicable for all infants under one year of age, and is the only absolutely safe sleeping place for them. Provide yourself in advance with a piece of cotton rope two feet in length. With this one end of the hammock is to be made fast to the lower end of the chain or cable by which the upper berth is suspended. The other end of the hammock is left on the hook by which it usually hangs. The hammock is thus suspended diagonally across the berth; now put in two pillows end to end. These serve the double purpose of spreader and bedding. If the hammock is strung tightly, it will swing clear of the person sleeping below, and the rougher the road the more the hammock swings and the sounder the baby sleeps. Good House Keeping.

In this state it is not necessary to serve a five days' notice for eviction of a cold. Use the original laxative cough syrup, Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. No opiates. Sold by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

A Bomb From the Sky.

Interesting details have been gathered by O. C. Farrington, of the Field Columbian museum, concerning the meteor which exploded over Scott county, Kan., on the night of September 2, 1905. It is calculated that the explosion occurred near Tribune, in Greeley county, but the fragments fell at Modoc, Scott county, about forty miles farther east. The area over which the stones were scattered is about seven miles long by two miles wide. The flight of meteor was from west to east, and the largest stones have been found near the east end of the area above mentioned. The heaviest stones yet picked up weighs 11 pounds. Many fragments weigh but a few ounces.

The Yellow Fever Germ has recently been discovered. It bears close resemblance to the malaria germ. To free the system from disease germs, the most effective remedy is Dr. King's New Life Pills. Guaranteed to cure all diseases due to malaria poison and constipation. 25c, at Z. Wayne & Bro's, Drug Store.

Preferred It as God Made It.

Andrew Carnegie once delivered a little homily to the pupils of a public school in Washington, says Harper's Weekly, wherein he endeavored to demonstrate that the judgment of men is apt to be warped by sentiment and feeling.

"In Scotland," asserted Mr. Carnegie, "the people abominated hymns simply because the Episcopalians used them. The Presbyterians sang only the Psalms of David. The Episcopalians used stained glass in their church windows, and for that reason the Scotch looked upon stained glass as something of unholy origin."

Continuing, Mr. Carnegie told a story of a Presbyterian minister who had been bold enough to introduce this hated innovation. He was showing it in triumph to one of his parishioners, and asked her how she liked it.

"Ay, it is handsome," said she, sadly, "but I prefer the glass just as God made it!"

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR CONGRESS
M. L. HEAVRIN, of Ohio County.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce S. A. ANDERSON, of West Hartford, President, a candidate for Representative in the General Assembly from this, the 20th district, subject to the action of the Republican party.

We are authorized to announce CLARENCE DEWEYSE, of Shreve, President, a candidate for Representative in the General Assembly from this, the 20th district, subject to the action of the Republican party.

Examine the label on your paper, if it is not correct notify us.

THE earthquake had its shake but a Chile reception.

THE "big stick" seems to have overtaken the "Iowa idea."

WE hereby request the opening debate between Beckham and McCreary for Hartford.

IF President Palma wants to suppress that Cuban rebellion in short order, he should send up and borrow the 3rd Kentucky.

LAST year this Country imported $40,000,000 worth of diamonds. Wonder how many of them were reported for taxation?

WAS there anything suggestive in the selection of a man named Boggs for Chairman of the Illinois Democratic State Convention?

FROM the "thick and thin" Democratic press Gen. Hayes is getting many kicks these days. Not because he is telling untruths, but for "telling tales out of school."

IN appealing for the old order of things, does Col. Watterson desire to be understood as taking a stand against mixed drinks, and in favor of a return to the straight stuff?

IT is a dangerous thing for the Czar to encourage further target practice among his soldiers. He cannot tell with any certainty upon whom they will make use of their skill.

IN another column will be found an article by one of our citizens upon dancing and Hartford's dancing hall, which we heartily endorse. If our young ladies could see the gaping crowds at the windows of this public hall, and hear the side remarks which are sometimes indulged in, we do not believe they would care to go again.

IN another column we reprint an editorial from the Louisville Herald commanding Judge Birkhead in the highest terms for his decision in the Keown-Tinsley suit, involving the Legislative redistricting act. We endorse all that the Herald says of our Judge. Upon all matters which have come before him since he has occupied the bench, he has shown a disposition to follow the law in a conscientious manner, no matter what his friendship for parties interested, or interests political or otherwise may have been.

WITH some newspapers the love of party is far above that of country. Of the bickerings in the Democratic party in Kentucky, which are bringing out many scandals at Frankfort, the Hartford Herald says: "It serves no good purpose and is dangerous to the best interests of the party, which every good Democrat should strive to subserve." If this is not partisanship goat to seed, we would like to see a sample. Every good citizens know that it is best for his party, and good for his country, to have its shortcomings held up to public gaze.

THERE was nothing inconsistent for that Illinois Democratic Convention to endorse both Bryan and Bill Evans. Did they not endorse Bryan to please the friends of Bryan, and Sullivan to please the friend of Sullivan? Besides it was done in separate resolutions and at different sessions of the convention. If they could not accomplish a small matter like that in a State Convention, how can they be expected in the National Convention to frame a platform which will please the gold bugs of the East and the silver people of the West? Then on the tariff question, they are to face in the coming campaign demands for protection to their Southern sugar folks and Kentucky hemp growers. Besides they may have members in Congress from Pennsylvania and some other States who will be clamoring for a retention of the duty on iron. We think the Illinois Democrats did well and have given the highest evidence of their capacity to write the next National platform for their party.

DROWNING MEN CATCH AT STRAWS.

Some weeks ago a correspondent to this paper mentioned the fact that two brothers here were about to let their invalid sister go to the almshouse, when one of them was able to care for her. No names were given. The article was not written by anyone connected with this paper, but by one who is in position to know of just such cases. Last week we expressed the hope that it was not true, or in other words, that our contributor was mistaken. This would have passed unnoticed by the Hartford Herald, except for the fact that at this time it had its hand in the fire, having abused the Republican party for collecting dollar campaign subscriptions, and was at once caught in a party which was doing the same thing.

This attempt upon the part of the Herald to get away from the effects of its dollar editorial, will not go. Better catch at a broad plank. Straws do not save drowning men.

THE HERALD'S RAMPAGE.

Under the headlines, of "Shocked the Woodcock" the Hartford Herald this week attempts to nag and harass us about the raising of campaign funds, with a lot of slang and discrediting assertions of which it is more bountifully supplied than with common honesty or correct English.

The wisecracks who some weeks, by close application, can grind out a column and a half of editorial grout for the Herald and sometimes from lack of sufficient amount of editorial producing extract, only a half column, actually recalls the recent insurance investigations inaugurated at the instance and directed by Republicans, sanctioned and encouraged by President Roosevelt and says: "and yet the REPUBLICAN has either never heard of it or wants to suppress it."

To the mature man of properly poised thinking apparatus this is the merest bosh—in fact every school boy is familiar with the investigation, and the fact that the insurance president who died from overhurt conscience swore before the investigation committee that the Democratic managers had importuned him with never ceasing alacrity to contribute to the Parker and Davis boodle fund and the idea of us trying to suppress a matter so universally known can only be conceived by a dwarf intellect or by a mind whose possessor lacks the attributes necessary to make up a decent competitor in any vocation.

We do not concede, neither is it true, that the trusts are fostered and kept alive by the Republican policy of protection. The fact that free-trade England has the most gigantic and the greatest number of trusts knocks such argument into a "cocked hat" and if the Herald possessed the honesty and learning which it is so solicitous about the REPUBLICAN's having, it would admit the truth of the statement.

At this point we wish to call attention to how far the Herald has drifted from its original position and how strongly it has attempted to lose the public as to the origin of this controversy. It grew out of an attack, by the Herald, on the Republican Congressional Committee for soliciting a dollar contribution from each voter. It got on one of its semi-annual or quarterly rampages about the matter and before it had fairly cooled off the Democratic Congressional Committee inaugurated the dollar contribution plan, and we suspect sent the trust busting editor of the Herald a request.

We reprinted the Herald's rampage in connection with the Democratic dollar contribution plan and the Herald at once wrung in the trust issue and has been pounding away on it for these many days and has reached the point, where it always does sooner or later when it begins a controversy, that it believes everybody horant except itself—but in fact

Fall Is The Talk Now.

Everybody is thinking about the coming fall, the coming fair, the coming railroad, which means coming prosperity to all. It also means a "coming desire" for better Clothes for the poor as well as for the well-to-do people. We are now prepared to supply that desire. We have brought on better Clothes, better Shoes, Hats, Men's Furnishings, Ladies' Skirts, JACKETS, Cloaks and everything else that Men, Women or Children need to wear.

ADVICE FROM MARSHALL FIELD.

Integrity, Good Judgment and Perseverance Necessary to Success.

Marshall Field, one of the three richest men in the world, and who recently died in New York, once gave the following advice to young men:

"The principal qualities that make the successful business men are three:

"First—Absolute integrity.

"Second—Good judgment.

"Third—Perseverance.

"A combination of these qualities means success. I believe in a standard of education. The higher the better, provided it does not make a man feel he is above the requirements of his business, no matter what they may be.

"No matter how highly educated a man is, he should be willing to begin at the lowest place, need be and when once launched in business he should be completely absorbed in it. A man in selecting a business should do so with the greatest of care, and select a career in which he can be thoroughly interested.

"A man should never speculate, but I make a strong distinction between speculation and judicious investment.

"Marriage often helps a man in business, provided, of course, it is with the right woman. No man should marry until his income is sufficient to enable him to meet the responsibilities he has assumed."

MARKED BY FATE.

Mr. D. Piazzek, the grain man, is firmly of the opinion that the fates have it in for him and are working 25 hours out of the 24 in his endeavor to humiliate him.

"It's no use," he sadly protested to some friends the other day. "I can't lift the hoodoo. Take my golf playing, for instance. Nine times out of ten I miss the ball when driving off from the first tee out at the Elm Ridge club. Every one of those nine times I look around and find the veranda lined with people, all possessed of large eyes that look like porcelain plaques on a plate rail. The tenth time, however, I hit the ball. I knock it to a speck. Then I turn proudly around, my chest swelling with pride. There's not a single soul on the veranda. Everybody has just gone in"—Kansas City Independent.

HAD SIZED HIM UP.

Reginald De Koven, the composer, entered a New York cafe one afternoon and ordered his luncheon, when he noticed that the waiter was lingering as if to say something.

"Well, what is it?" asked the composer, looking up from his paper.

"Beg pardon, sir," said the waiter, "but do you remember me?"

"Can't say that I do."

"Well, sir, I used to sing in one of your companies."

"Oh, yes," responded De Koven, after a survey of the waiter's countenance. "I remember you now. You had a part in 'Foxy Quiller.'"

"Yes, sir. I suppose, sir, you're surprised to see me now as a waiter."

"Not at all," replied De Koven. "I heard you sing."

WEAKNESS OF THE GREAT.

Julius Caesar, to whom the music of great battles was sweet, trembled at the sound of thunder and sought shelter under his house where he might hide to escape the sound. Queen Elizabeth, one of the most fearless of women, trembled like a leaf at the sound of the word "death," and Talleyrand shivered and changed color at the same word. Marshal Saxe, a hero in many battles, screamed and fled at the sight of a cat, while Peter the Great would not cross a bridge unless it was absolutely necessary, and then crossed in terrible alarm, being weak and sick afterward from the terror.

TWO OF A KIND.

"Say, what's the matter with this coffee?" queried Slopay.

"Same thing that's the matter with you, I suppose," answered the landlady; "it's a little slow about settling."

USES COAL AS FINE AS FLOUR.

Smokeless Combustion Said to Be Achieved by a Manufacturer.

For years the entire country has been complaining of the smoke nuisance, says the Detroit Free Press. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been expended on smoke consumers, stokers, steam jets and other appliances. Now comes the inventor with a simple device that a schoolboy can understand.

Smoke is caused by feeding soft coal into the furnace. The fuel, when thrown on a bed of hot coal, ignites rapidly and throws off a volume of carbon which gushes out of the tubes and then falls on everything surrounding the plant.

Benjamin J. Walker, of Erie, Pa., was searching for a means of destroying the nuisance in the Erie malleable iron works. He went to the root of the trouble—the feeding the fuel into the furnace. Instantaneous combustion was what he wanted and here is the plan he evolved: Instead of passing the coal into the furnace in the old-fashioned way he fed it in pulverized form into a hopper whence it passed by air pressure through two wrought iron pipes into the furnace. Combustion instantly took place and the coal dust was burned in suspension. No smoke, no burned on grates, no back-breaking stirring up of fire, no gang of men tending the furnaces.

The invention was purchased a few months ago by Mark Packard, of Buffalo, a multimillionaire mine operator. For years he has never been able to find a market for the coal dust or bug dust, as it is called in the business. The new combustion invention settles that question, for coal as fine as flour can be used.

The quantity of ashes to be removed is reduced by 60 to 70 per cent.

EXPECTED MUCH FROM WIT.

Antoine Rivarol, the French epigrammatist of the eighteenth century, was so brilliant that something good was expected of him every minute. Once when he had been invited to dinner, at which the hostess especially wished him to shine, he sat quite silent.

The attitude of disappointed expectancy in the company netted him, and at last Rivarol made a stupid remark. Every body uttered an exclamation.

"There," said Rivarol, "I cannot say a stupid thing without every one's crying 'There!'"

At a dinner in the house of some Germans he made a joke. His hosts put their heads together inquiringly. Rivarol said to his neighbor, a Frenchman:

"Look at the Germans pouting their wits to understand a joke."

ADVISED HORSE MEDICINE.

Prince von Bulow's fainting fit in the reichstag recently attracted wide sympathy. One suggestion in particular impressed him. It was from an old veterinary surgeon. "I have been very much grieved to read in the papers that you have had a seizure of weakness. If you are subject to them, I can give you a remedy of my own discovering which is composed of quite harmless herbs. I have used it often for horses, and it never failed. You should try it." The imperial chancellor was profoundly touched by the thought that he needed horse physic.

A NEW VERSION.

"Give an account of the life of Hannibal?" was one of the questions in an examination of eighth-grade pupils recently.

"Hannibal," wrote one youngster, "was one of the patriots of the revolution and led an African regiment in the battle of San Juan Hill. He helped to write the constitution and by-laws and fought a 20-round draw with Aaron Burr. He afterward built the Hannibal & St. Joe railroad, but he died a poor man because Pierpont Gates beat him out of it."—Woman's Home Companion.

OLD AXIOM GIVEN A PUNCTURE.

Large Employer of Labor Says He Wants No Whistling Workmen.

"Tis sad to puncture an old axiom," said the employer of a large number of men, "but my experience with other men enables me to let a little of the air of fallacy out of the old saw which grinds out a platitude that the 'whistling workman' is the best, or that the 'singing cook makes the best sauce.'

"From early childhood we are taught to place the workman who whistles and sings at the bench or over his work as the ideal of his kind. In theory perhaps this idea holds good, but from an experience of 30 years in the handling of men I will pass the whistling fellow by for the one who does not whistle or sing while at work. And I have found this true in clerical pursuits as well as those involving manual labor.

"When a man is not working whistling or singing produces a certain amount of mental relaxation; it denotes a certain vacuity of mind. It is impossible for a man to whistle or sing if the mental faculties are at all absorbed in work. It requires mental concentration of more or less effort to turn out good work or to produce satisfactory results in any calling.

"Whistling interferes with this concentration, though the concentration may, by reason of a perfect knowledge of the work being turned out, have become mechanical on the part of the workman. The singing or the humming of a tune produces still greater mental vacuity. It is in these moments that workmen make mistakes, often costly ones to themselves or to their employers."

HERMIT CLAIMS FORTUNE.

Henry Racliff, who has been leading the life of a hermit in a little hut at North Muskegon for a number of years, has gone to his old home in New York state to claim a fortune, said to amount to $30,000, which was left him by his brother.

At one time Racliff was a prosperous merchant in his native state, but during a poker game one night, shortly before the civil war, he was accused of cheating after he had raked in a large stake at cards. During the alteration which followed it was said that he drew a revolver and shot his opponent dead in self-defense.

A wealthy broker refused Racliff financial assistance at the time of the trial, and when he was finally acquitted he was penniless and broken down in health. He stole away from the scene of his alleged wrongdoing, and after wandering about the country finally settled down at North Muskegon, where he has lived in his little hut for many years.

BUSINESS COLLEGES ARE FAILURES

In small cities and towns, because:
1. There is not a sufficient population to support a GOOD school;
2. Such schools are usually conducted by persons who are NOT qualified, or who make their money to travel about and do not care for their patrons;
3. There are few if any opportunities for their graduates to secure employment in such locations;
4. The THOROUGH business colleges are located in the larger cities and are conducted by persons who are qualified;
5. The graduates of business colleges in small cities or towns can not easily employ themselves in their cities, and in competition with the THOROUGH graduates of high-class schools, as business men have no time to experiment with incompetents, therefore, be wise. Send for the finest 68-page catalogue ever issued by a commercial school, before deciding to throw away your money for a worthless training at some cheap school.

BIRD NEST ARCHITECTURE.

Interesting Developments in the Construction of a Yellowhammer Home.

A correspondent of the Lewiston Journal writes: From the windows of a Minot farm house have been observed interesting developments in bird nest architecture. Where a branch had been cut from an apple tree was chosen by a yellow hammer for its summer home.

For nearly two weeks the birds have been at work chiseling out a cavity for their purpose. The yellowhammer is among our larger summer migrants and needs a home of generous dimensions in which to rear its young. Since they have made the hole large enough to enter one of the birds disappears inside, and from the opening sprays of fine chips, seem to be blown from the bird's bill. Their emphatic staccato notes are not so often heard as when they were mating. Their choosing a nice new home shows a fine regard for sanitation, which the bluebird, for instance, seems to.

Would Remodel Spelling.

It is the opinion of Nature that a strong man should come forward, and by his influence compel all philologists, the whole world over, to adopt the Lepins alphabet (with two or three trifling changes) as the standard which all persons must adopt in transcribing the languages of the world not already and anciently expressed in Roman letters; may more, it is to be hoped one day that all the civilized tongues of the world—English, French, German, Russian, Greek, Arabic, and every other speech with a literature—may be written down in one form of lettering, and according to one standard—perhaps the Lepins—of expressing sounds by letters."

Woman Had Basket of Wolves.
Mrs. M. Henderson, who lives four miles southwest of Bush City, was in town to day with six young wolves which she and her husband captured yesterday on their farm, says the Garnett News.

The wolves were quite young, they did not have their eyes open yet, and one who did not know what they were would have said they were puppies.

There is a bounty of $100 on the wolves, so that Mrs. Henderson will receive $6 for the scalps of the six. They made an effort to capture the old wolf, but she could not be found.

Forbidden by Law.

There is an old church in Wisconsin which has no steeple, because of a court mandate forbidding such a construction. In 1862 a severe storm swept over the town, hurling the original spire against the house next door and wrecking it. The owner of the house got an injunction restraining the trustees of the church from building another spire, and this order has held ever since.

Bush Fires in Australia.

The remarkable discovery has been made that many of the recent great bush fires in New South Wales and Victoria were caused by the phosphorus paste laid down to kill rabbits. The paste is laid down by the ton in all the rabbit infested districts. As soon as the mixture dries it catches fire under the heat of the sun's rays and starts disastrous conflagrations.

HIGH PRICES OF CHAIRS.

One Dozen of Louis XIV. Days Was Recently Sold for One Hundred Thousand Dollars.

The value of chairs is strictly relative. Enormous prices have been paid for chairs in recent years, notably $100,000 for a set of half a dozen Louis XIV. chairs, upholstered in Gobelin tapestry, which were originally made for Marie Antoinette. Even this price, states the Cleveland Plain Dealer, by the way, was exceeded by the sums paid for three of the Hamilton parlor chairs, one of which brought $30,000.

A most valuable and historically interesting suite of furniture is that which more than a century ago was presented by Warren Hastings to Tipper Sahib and which was purchased at the Londesborough sale for $5,000. The suite consists of a red card table, a sofa, two small cabinets and four armchairs, all of solid ivory most exquisitely carved. But probably the most costly chair in the world is one of the many treasures of the shah of Persia. It is of solid gold, thickly incrusted with diamonds, rubies, pearls and sapphires, and its value is estimated at $500,000. In the house of commons at Westminster are two armchairs which once belonged to Gladstone, and one of which was his favorite seat when at Downing street.

A short time ago a romantic story was told in the French papers of two dilapidated armchairs which were sold among the effects of a Mme. Borg, a widow, who died at Dellys, an Algerian seaport town. The widow was reputed to be rich, but a thorough search of her rooms failed to disclose any of her hoardings, and it was assumed by her relatives that she had died practically penniless. Not long after the sale of her furniture, however, it was observed that the purchaser of the chairs, a Spanish stevedore named Perez, ceased to work, began to walk about in fine clothes, to purchase land and houses and generally gave evidence of having come into a fortune. Suspicion being aroused, Perez was arrested, and now stands accused of having appropriated to his own use the old lady's fortune of at least $20,000, which had been concealed by her in the dilapidated armchairs.

Big Bird in Indiana.

John Kruse, a farmer of Indiana, has killed a huge bird which attacked a calf in his barnyard. It is thought to be a condor. It measures seven feet six inches from tip to tip of wing and three feet two inches from bill to tip of tail. It has a strong curved beak six inches long and its talons measure two and one-half inches. On the neck, two inches below the head, is a circle of pure white feathers.

Discovered by a Sow.

In the cathedral of La Paz, in South America, there is preserved a silver pig with jeweled eyes, a thank offering made long years ago by a pious Spanish prospector, who had been led to stumble across what proved to be an exceedingly valuable silver mine owing to preliminary investigations that had been carried out by an inquisitive sow.

PECULIAR "HEATHENISM."

That of the Japanese May Be Regarded as Not Altogether Objectionable.

Are the Japanese heathen? Yes. In the minds of many persons they are linked up with the people of Patagonia and other foreign lands.

But the Japs are a peculiar kind of heathen, says the San Antonio (Tex.) Gazette. One could almost wish that America could import some of their savage customs.

For instance, they have what is known as the moral code. It is not a Sunday or a parade affair. They do not forget it for

CHANGE IN COAST LINES.

Centuries Have Made Many Vicissitudes in Shores of the Bay of Naples.

Not for the first time has the shore of the Bay of Naples changed its ancient level. The earth movements on the Neapolitan coast were exhaustively studied by a British exploring party only three years ago, and the discovery was made that the more important movements of the land were not due to sudden seismic causes, but to those slow and majestic processes that affect the coast lines of continents.

But sudden disturbance does not account for the burrows of marine shell fish now found in the columns of the Temple of Serapis, 19 feet above sea level. The British researchers were able to collect evidence showing that since the Roman dominion the Neapolitan coast sank 35 feet, and then rose about 20 feet, and that this tremendous change was of a gradual character.

A good many delusions were dissipated as the result of these fresh inquiries. The submerged Roman ruins along the coast used to be regarded as foundation walls thrown out for sea baths, but it was made clear that they are the remains of noble mansions and that they point to the time when the land on which they stood was far above the level of the sea. The shore is in fact strewn with the wreck of buried cities. Coast roads have vanished, ancient quarries been flooded and the breakwaters of the harbors of classical story covered fathoms deep with water.

Of Lord Rosebery's villa, down in the bottom of the sea, covering dozens of acres, lie the ruins of many buildings. A great submarine sea wall, with concrete piers 17 feet high, still protects the fragments. But neither the fragments nor the great sea wall have been visible in the light of day for 2,000 years.

ART IMPROVED ON NATURE

Object Lesson Far More Eloquent Than the Thunderings of the Energetic Lecturer.

"Gentlemen," thundered the energetic lecturer, "we live in pessimistic times. Our leading politicians, our pulpit orators, our great philosophers, our poets and, worst of all, our novelists, delight to picture life as a hideous nightmare, a crooked dream, a thing not worth the misery expended in enduring, a low scramble for human supremacy, or as an ignoble failure at best. And, gentlemen, are they right? Is it, indeed, so? Are we really sinking in the scale of civilization? Nature is nature, and we are her children; nature is good and wise and beautiful and true; nature empowers us and makes us free from guile and deceit!"

Here there was a stir in the audience.

"Hold on, guy'nar. Look here!" shouted a man who had been intently listening. "This is my wig, and these my false teeth, and this my glass eye. What about them, eh? What sort of a fright would I be without them? They look nature all to pieces. I can tell you. You hold on a bit!"

Advance of Surgery.

Twenty years ago 50 per cent. of cases of amputation terminated fatally; but under the modern system of antiseptic surgery the danger of this operation has been so far reduced that the rate of mortality does not now exceed from 5 to 12 per cent. of the number of cases.

Insurance Department of Kentucky.

Frankfort, Aug. 23d, 1906.

Whereas, The National Life Insurance Company, located at Montpelier, Vt., is possessed of the actual capital required under the laws of this Commonwealth, and has complied with all the requirements of said laws which are applicable to Life Insurance Companies incorporated by or doing business in other States of the United States:

Now therefore, I, Henry R. Prentiss, Insurance Commissioner for the State of Kentucky, in pursuance of the authority vested in me by the laws of this Commonwealth, do hereby certify that C. M. Barnett and C. E. Smith, of Hartford, in the County of Ohio, are authorized as Agents of the aforesaid Company to transact the business of Insurance for one year from Aug. 1, 1906, in this State, as provided by the laws thereof.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name, and caused my official seal to be affixed on the day and year first above written.

Insurance Commissioner.

In Memory

Of Miss Vastie Wilson, daughter of G. J. and Rebecca Wilson, who departed this life at her home near Rosine, Ky., June 26, 1906.

Just two months ago to-day Death again visited this home And took a loved one away Leaving them all alone.

Twas in morn's early light As the sun played over the sparkling dew; An angel softly whispered, 'we're waiting for you.' And took this darling from their sight.

The sweetest smile upon her lips did play As if to say, "mother I'm going away."

Then to heaven her spirit took its flight To dwell where all is pure and bright.

Around the fireside is a vacant chair And her loving voice is stilled; But in heaven another enticement there Which never can be stilled.

Sisters remember the pleasures of long ago To-day she's enjoying heaven to us unseen;

Wearing garments white as snow, And you can play around her grave of green.

In the springtime flowers left us, Tongue only, can tell how we miss you;

But 'tis God who hath bereft us, Till we meet in the land beyond the blue.

To-day she's plucking flowers on the Other Shore,

Singing "over is the promised land;

Dear father and mother where weeping is no more,

As 'twas around yester-cottage door.

Dear parents I say with tender speech,

To the cross patiently clinging;

And for her weep no more I beseech.

But listen to heaven's new praises ring.

GOOD-BYE OLD COW.

Good-bye old cow, you've got to go. Of course 'tis hard to tell you so.

For your forefathers and my own, For years this old town have known.

You're leant and bally, to be hired, You're fit for neither milk nor beef.

You live and travel on walks, Get nothing to eat, cause heated talk.

You run in our trees and gardens too; You greatly damage, not a few.

For you yield but little at your best, And then go dry six months to rest.

You come and go at your will;

From neighbor's corn you get a fill,

With stomach large andudder small,

I can't like your way at all,

You need a place where grass is green;

Where you can live and not be seen,

Where you can fill and fill again,

And fear no harm from any man.

Now, I look at you with and regret:

And mourn to think we ever met,

For every wrinkle on your horn,

Proclaims of stolen hay and corn.

You can't claim this law new;

For other cattle go as well as you,

So, good-bye, old cow you've got to go.

(Of course, 'tis hard to tell you so.)

My neighbor farmers live with ease;

They lose no gardens, grass or trees;

The reason, simple, plain and true;

Their cattle don't run out the you.

Such room 'long stock, no more'll I need;

Henceforth I'll try another breed,

I plainly see my error now,

You've got to go, good-bye old cow.

By virtue of execution 37 directed to me, which issued from the Clerk's Office of the Ohio Circuit Court, in favor of J. W. Henry against Isaac the same course to a corner; thence to the cross patiently clinging;

And for her weep no more I beseech;

But listen to heaven's new praises ring.

AUGUST CLEARANCE SALE

FROM

August 15 to September 1

AT

Long & Co.'s ECONOMY STORE.

All Summer Goods will be sold for space and not for profit. We must do this to make room for our fall stock, which is now beginning to arrive. We won't take your time now, quoting you prices on any one thing, but will only ask you to visit our store during this sale and let us show you the goods and make you prices on our Clothing, Shoes, Slippers, Shirts, Underwear, Hosiery, Wash Goods, Silks, &c. It will only be a short time now until we will announce our Fall Opening and Display of the new things for Fall and Winter. And as we have stated we must close out all Summer Stock Remnants.
